Co-Presenters:

Kaung (Woody) Myat is a Fulbright Foreign Language Teaching Assistant in HLS. He teaches the Burmese language in the IU Southeast Asian and ASEAN Studies Program. Before he came to the U.S., Myat worked as a government university teacher for about 6 years in Myanmar. In February 2021, Myat left his job and joined the Civil Disobedience Movement (CDM) due to Myanmar's political situations. [myatw@iu.edu]

Genevieve Pritchard, MBA (KSOB, IUB), specializes in the development of leadership and civic engagement capacity and was the Associate Director, IU Office of International Development (2012- 2017), managing a multi-project portfolio developing and implementing government-sponsored international programs. In this role, she traveled to Myanmar annually and engaged with the country in multiple ways. She worked with refugees to seek asylum in the U.S. and enroll in American universities (including IU), negotiated with government officials to create partnerships, and led a study program for 120 Myanmar youth ages 15-19 to study civic leadership and implement grass-roots community projects.
