BIO SKETCH – Philip Parnell

Philip Parnell is an Emeritus Faculty at IU Bloomington. He is affiliated with the Department of International Studies at the Hamilton Lugar School of Global and International Studies and the Department of Criminal Justice in the College of Arts & Sciences. His research focuses on theories, processes, and discourses associated with urban poverty that develop within and across the intersections of grassroots, state, and religious and international networks. To conduct research, he lives within and visits extensive networks of the urban poor in Metropolitan Manila. His research has focused in part on the role of the urban poor in democratic development of the largest socialized housing project in the Philippines and in part on how poverty shapes state, legal, and international formations. Recently, he studied outcomes of urban poor and NGO economic and legal approaches to human rights, as well as the epidemiology of violence within Metropolitan Manila. His methods include ethnographic fieldwork, in-depth interviews, archival research, and longitudinal research.

The Hamilton Lugar School wishes to acknowledge and honor the Miami, Delaware, Potawatomi, and Shawnee people, on whose ancestral homelands and resources Indiana University was built.
